

LOCAL.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 27 1873.

Market Street is being repaired.

Orangeburg needs a town market.

The Mayor says (unofficially) that Orangeburg needs a town market.

To have all the Streets kept in order:—have an Alderman for every Street.

Dr. Oliveros will have one of the finest places in town. Pills pay.

See Moseley & Crooks new advertisement.

A drove of horses and mules came in last Wednesday. Rather early, considering the low price of cotton.

T. Cartmill is having a sign painted. Mr. Cartmill is well known already, but every improvement is a good sign.

T. Kohn & Bro. have, among their numerous other articles, a fine assortment of perfumery and briar-root pipes.

The Cotton Factory Committee is for to day—the Citizens meeting will be held next Saturday.

An infant daughter of our fellow Townsman J. W. H. Dukes Esq., died last Wednesday.

The Postmaster has fifty thousand Postal Cards for sale. Price 1 cent each—paper, envelope and postage thrown in.

The deer is a dainty animal—he always carries a couple of tooth picks with him. Ask Captain Albergotti to show you where they are.

The new Council is "slightly impetuous." The retiring Council collected license fees in advance. Nevertheless Orangeburg needs a Town Market.

J. McNamara offers for sale a full assortment of Fall and Winter goods of every description at prices to suit the times. Also a large stock of choice bargains. Call on him.

C. D. Kortjohn changes his advertisement this week. Go and see that young man. Look at that young man's stock of groceries. If you see what you want (and you certainly will)—buy. You can't do better.

James H. Fowles Esq., Cashier of the Orangeburg Branch of the Citizens Saving Bank assures us that that institution has not been, within his knowledge, in the slightest degree affected by the recent panic.

Until "Greck" finds his counterpart Greck can not meet Greck in Orangeburg. But the way Greck howled "all by himself" last Thursday was a caution and an infliction to all who were within a half mile of him.

Several members of the new Council were recently heard to express themselves, unofficially, in favor of new streets and a Town market: Now let them talk the same way "in regular Session" and Orangeburg will have reason to be grateful.

LIST OF PETIT JURORS FOR THE OCTOBER COURT.

Henry E. Smoke, J. F. Robinson, Rufus Huffman, Edward Connor, P. V. Dibble, J. R. Williams, W. V. Culler, John F. Adden, Henry W. Brown, W. L. Gaffney, Darby Smith, W. J. Funches, D. W. Barsh, J. F. Hutto, Alexander Dantzer, Boston Felder, Jack Perry, O. D. J. Collier—Stephen Funches, Richard Huggins, David Gilliard, W. B. Easterlin, Pleasant Hill, Frank Hart, Sam Frederick, H. M. Miller, Charles Felder, Jacob Holman, J. W. R. Berry, W. P. Ayers, W. H. Herman, Charles Corbitt, Henry Livingston, W. P. Cain, Jacob Forgle, Henry M. Moore.

Jury Commissioner Joel Larkin, Esquire, conducted the drawing last Monday, in his usual able impartial and satisfactory manner.

Our friend Danner—John Danner—is at the North, buying goods for Cora. We take advantage of his absence to tell the following good joke on him which we heard from his own lips—premising that John is somewhat thicker (physique-ally) than a lean knife-blade,—in fact, that he pulls the beam somewhere in the 2 hundreds—and that he is certainly not over 17 feet high. Well, Danner, in haste one day somewhere on Russell St., collided with a little colored boy who was also in haste but bound in a different direction. "The devil" says John (piously, however). "Do you mean to run over me, boy?" Whereat the boy, taking in John's latitude and shortitude at a glance. "I'd a heap rudder run ober you sar, den' run 'round you!"
